Private Labeling

Migo Skin Inc. covers all the necessary steps to establish your ideal brand. We can create unique products and customize them to your exact specifications from research and development formulation, product and packaging selection, graphic design testing, and manufacturing.

Contract Manufacturing

Similar to toll manufacturing, contract manufacturing involves outsourcing production processes to a third-party company. In contract manufacturing, however, the third-party company hired to produce the goods is supplying the manufacturing process as well as sourcing all of the raw materials. Contract manufacturing is creating a supply chain vendor for a branded private label or custom-made product. The contract manufacturer is responsible for making the product to specification and meeting the delivery time requirements. This offers you a fast and effective method of extending your product line with minimal investment and a made-to-order supply program.
